

2003 BLACKOUT: TELL YOUR STORY

Read the stories of others

Two dramatic power failures struck the New York metropolitan region within recent memory, leaving indelible memories and opening a window onto times of change for the nation's largest city.

THE BLACKOUT HISTORY PROJECT

New York City 1965 - / -1977

"Make history" by describing your experience of the blackouts:

Blackout survivors, tell your story!

OUT

Electric Utility Industry
Perspectives:

Give your professional assessment of the impact the blackouts had on the industry

Choose the on-line survey relevant to you and add your memories of the blackouts to this project, or enter the main site and explore at your own pace.

This site is a member of Science and Technology in the Making (STIM), a web-based research project for the recent history of science and technology funded by the Alfred P. Sloan Foundation, and is affiliated with the Center for History and New Media (CHNM) at George Mason University in Fairfax, VA.

blackout@history.gmu.edu

jts {27 June 2000}